Your Gateway to Census Data

The screenshot displays the official website of the United States Census Bureau. The header features the 'United States Census Bureau' logo and navigation links for 'People', 'Business', 'Geography', 'Data', and 'Newsroom'. A search bar is located in the top right corner.

The main content area is divided into several sections:

- Business Patterns and Demographics: A section with a map of the United States and a sidebar titled 'COUNTY BUSINESS — DEMOGRAPHICS MAP'. It includes a 'Read More' button.
- U.S. Census Bureau Economic Indicators: A table of key economic data points with arrows indicating trends.
- QuickFacts: A section for quick access to facts about people, business, and geography, with a dropdown menu to 'Select a state to begin'.
- Interactive Map: A section for exploring census data through an interactive map.
- Census News: A section for the latest news, including 'Census Bureau Announces Dates for Upcoming Population Estimates Releases' and 'Media Advisory -- Census Bureau Releases Findings on American Indian and Alaska Native Population During Forum at National Museum of the American Indian'.
- Stat of the Day: A section highlighting a daily statistic, such as 'Median monthly housing costs'.

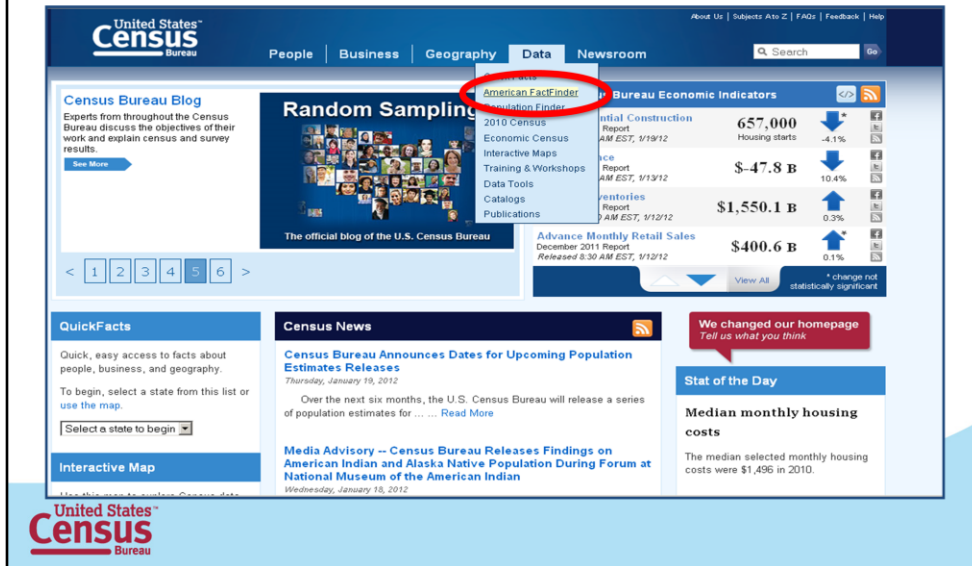

A red banner at the bottom right of the main content area reads: 'We changed our homepage Tell us what you think'.

The footer of the page features the 'United States Census Bureau' logo.

There are several simple data searches that can be done directly from our home page - www.census.gov.

Your Gateway to Census Data

Beyond simple data searches that can be done directly from our home page, we are going to look at The American FactFinder (AFF).

You can access the American FactFinder from the banner (header) by clicking on "Data" and then selecting American FactFinder. Another way to access the AFF is the footer at the bottom of the page under "Find Data", select American FactFinder.

The American FactFinder

The screenshot shows the American FactFinder website. At the top, the U.S. Census Bureau logo is on the left, and navigation links (Feedback, FAQs, Glossary, Help) are on the right. Below the logo is the 'FactFinder' title and a search icon. A red box highlights the text 'Your source for population, housing, economic, and geographic information'. The main content area is divided into several sections: 'Your Selections' (with a 'Your Selections' is empty message), 'Search using the options below:' (with links for Topics, Geographies, Race and Ethnic Groups, and Industry Codes), 'Quick Start' (with a search form and a 'GO' button), 'Reference Maps' (with a map selection dropdown and a 'GO' button), 'Address Search' (with a text input field and a 'GO' button), and 'Load Query' (with a button to restore a previously saved query). The 'Quick Start' section also includes a 'GET EMAIL UPDATES' button. The 'Reference Maps' section includes a 'United States' dropdown menu. The 'Address Search' section includes a 'Find Census data by entering a street address' button. The 'Load Query' section includes a 'Use Load Query to restore a previously saved query' button. The bottom of the page features the 'United States Census Bureau' logo.

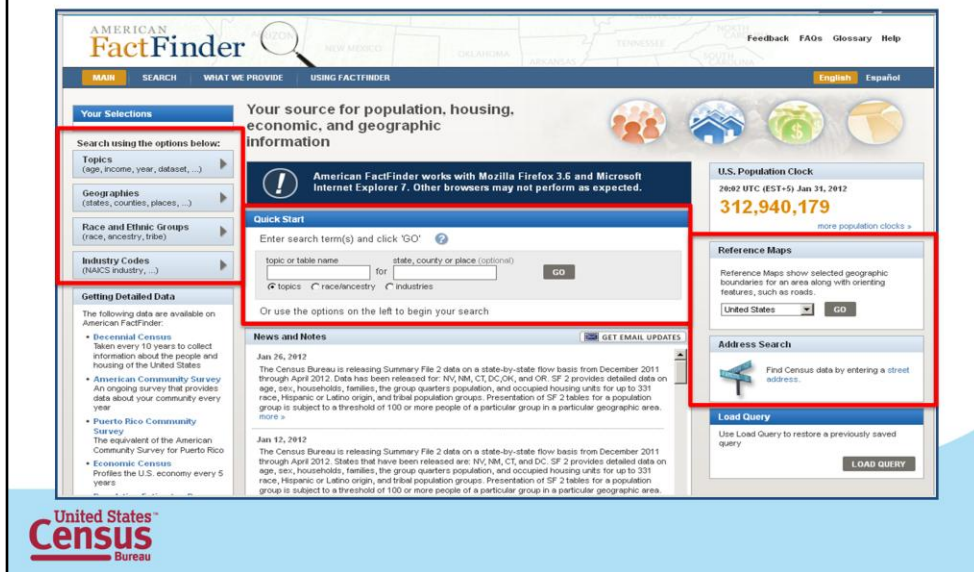

On the American FactFinder page, there are 7 ways to start a search. All are located on the main page.

You begin, by default, on the main page. There is an option to go from English to Español, or Spanish.

Throughout FactFinder, you will notice a consistent presence of some helpful items in the top right corner. Please do explore these if you have further questions or if you need a refresher; please don't hesitate to click on the feedback to tell us what you like, improvements you want to suggest, and so on...after all, we are looking to make American FactFinder as user-friendly and helpful as possible.

Exercise

Exercise 1:

Using Census 2010 data, find the median age of males in Dallas and Galveston Counties, TX who identified themselves as race “Black or African American alone”.

We will begin with an easy exercise using Quick Start. Type in “median age” in the topic text box; then in the geography text box type in “Dallas County, TX.” Then click “GO.” Your search results display. Note that your selections reflect your search criteria. This lets you know what has been selected and where you have been.
